

The Office for Postdoctoral Scholars
The Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences
The Graduate Student Body Committee

Present a Professional Development Seminar

Not Networking 101 - Building Relationships for Success

Joanne Kamens, Ph.D.

Strong professional relationships are necessary for most people to succeed in their careers. This workshop will provide practical tools for meeting people and for nurturing new and established connections.

Dr. Joanne Kamens has provided career development and work-life balance advice to hundreds of groups and individuals and has been actively mentoring young scientists for most of her career. She founded the Boston chapter of the Association for Women in Science and currently is the Executive Director of Addgene, a mission driven, non-profit dedicated to helping scientists around the world share plasmid reagents.

Monday, September 16, 2013

11:00 a.m. to Noon

Amp I, S2-102

Refreshments will be served