2. Know about the challenges of implementing clinical CT lung cancer screening.
3. Understand what could enhance the success of CT lung cancer screening in the future.

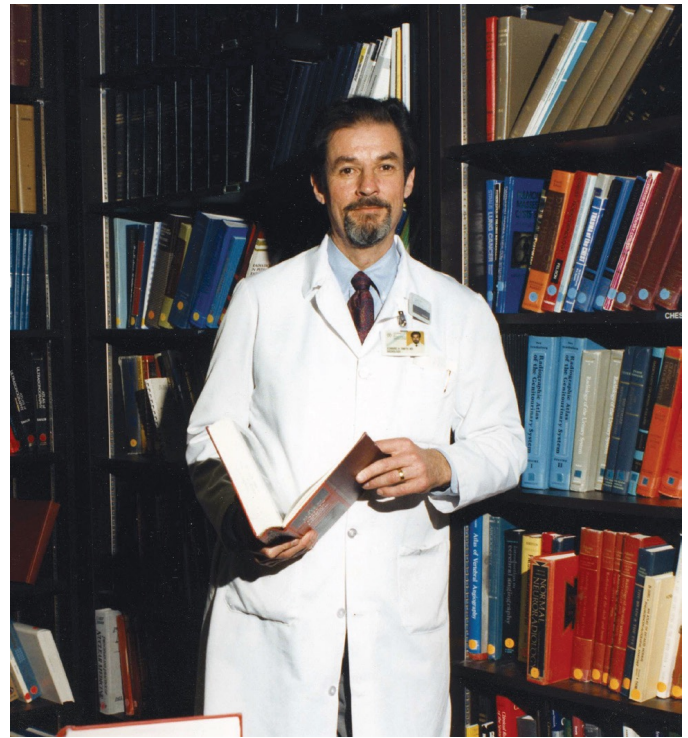

Dear Faculty, Residents, Fellows, Friends,
and Alumni,

We are delighted to welcome Dr. Alexander Bankier as the 12th Annual Edward Smith Lecturer.

Dr. Bankier is one of the world leaders in Thoracic Radiology, having served as President of the Fleischner Society, and as an author of many of the Fleischner Society's seminal guidelines, notably for lung nodule management. From 2007 to 2017 he served as the deputy editor of the journal Radiology, and has held leadership roles in wide range of organizations including the European Society of Thoracic Imaging and The Radiologic Society of North America. Dr. Bankier is a professor of Radiology at Harvard Medical School and Section Chief of Thoracic Radiology at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center. Dr. Bankier has been an innovative thought leader in the design, implementation and analysis of lung screening initiatives, and the program he developed at BIDMC has been used by the American College of Radiology (ACR) as case study in how Radiology can play a proactive role in lung cancer screening.

Please join me for Dr. Bankier's Smith Lecture:
LungHealth - the BIDMC CT Lung Cancer Screening Program: Lessons from the Present, Vision for the Future.

Best,
Max

The Edward H. Smith, M.D. Annual Lectureship in Radiology at the University of Massachusetts Medical School has been established to honor Dr. Smith's service over two decades as Chair of the Department. Dr. Smith's vision for developing Radiology at UMass and his ability to attract and retain talented faculty created the foundations for the thriving Department we see today. In recognition of his leadership and dedication, this Lectureship will invite leaders of our specialty to share their clinical experience and scientific achievements. We cordially invite you to join us.

Max P. Rosen, M.D., M.P.H.
Professor and Chair
Department of Radiology
UMass Memorial/UMass Medical School
